Reflections on the Readings for the 10th Sunday in Ordinary Time - June 9, 2024

A HOUSE DIVIDED

Today's Gospel demands our conversion, which is a two-step process. It requires a change of heart and then a turning around toward God. It is both an interior and exterior change, which could be likened to re-aligning yourself to follow your north-facing compass—it first requires a knowledge that you are no longer headed north, and then the willingness to change paths in order to head north.

Because conversion requires a “metanoia,” or a change of heart, we know that to be converted, our consciences must be open. Truth must be able to penetrate our thoughts so that we become aware of our failings and shortcomings. When our conscience speaks we need to conform ourselves to the truth, instead of trying to justify our wrongdoing. The will then follows the intellect. If we know something to be true and want to embrace that truth, then our actions will begin to follow.

The second step in conversion requires us not just turning away from something, but turning toward something else. Conversion is turning away from sin and turning toward God; turning away from vice and toward virtue. The best confessors will not just tell us we need to stop being greedy, but rather will encourage us to break the vice of greed by growing in the virtue of generosity.

PRAYER

Today's Gospel seems to be a little of a whirlwind and may be confusing. Jesus starts out by rebuking the scribes and also seems to be rebuking his family and close friends. Let's dive deeper into the passage.

Jesus starts out by explaining to the scribes that he is not allied with demons, because Satan would not allow his own to be driven out. He tells us that “if a house is divided against itself, it will not be able to stand.” How are you divided? What areas of your life do you keep from the light of Christ? What do you need to expose to Christ so that he can be a part of your whole life, rather than just part of it?

Next, Jesus says that “whoever does the will of God is my brother and sister and mother.” We all want a familial relationship with Jesus, and today he invites us to be part of his home. All we need to do is follow God's will. Do you seek the will of God in your life? Furthermore, do you accept the will of God? Spend some time praying with and answering these questions as you reflect on Jesus's words.

RESOLUTION

Commit this week to focus on being open to the will of God. How can you open your heart and life up to God? Where do you need to stop trying to control your life and allow God to direct you? This week's resolution isn't just for this week—it's a lifelong undertaking. We would never meet someone one night and entrust everything we own to them the next day. The more you get to know God and the more you see his faithfulness and goodness towards you, the more open your heart will naturally become to surrendering to him. Your job is to work to become more intimate with him and challenge yourself to trust him with moments in your life that you might not ordinarily be inclined to release. | formed.org
